

CONTRIBUTORS

Augustin Amevi Bocco is Assistant Professor of French and Francophone Studies at Tennessee Wesleyan College. His research focuses on the new generation of African Francophone writers in general, and Kossi Efoui in particular.

Nathan D. Brown is Assistant Professor of French at Randolph-Macon College. He is interested in the contributions of the French Atlantic world to intellectual history and to the formation of early modern identities, and in the song cultures and digital media of the Francophone New World. His current book project is tentatively titled Beyond "Several Acres of Snow": Visions of French America 1703-1780.

David S. Cross is Associate Professor at Charleston Southern University, where he teaches Spanish language and literature and the Arabic language. He is currently editor of Postscript, the Journal of the Philological Association of the Carolinas.

Josefina de Diego is a writer and translator of English works into Spanish. She has published various books for children, one of which, Un gato siberian husky, won the Cuban Premio Nacional de la Crítica in 2007. In 2015 her translation of A. A. Milne's The House at Pooh Corner won First Honorable Mention in the José Rodríguez Feo Translation Contest, sponsored by the National Union of Writers and Artists of Cuba.

Bryan Pearce-Gonzales is Associate Professor of Hispanic Studies at Shenandoah University. He has published critical essays on Chicana/o autobiography and fiction.

Elizabeth Scarlett is Professor of Spanish and Chair of the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures at the University of Buffalo. Her first book, Under Construction: The Body in Spanish Novels, was a CHOICE Outstanding Academic Book of 1995. She has also published Religion and Spanish Film: Luis Buñuel, the Franco Era, and Contemporary Directors.

MIFLC REVIEW IS NOW ACCEPTING BOOK REVIEWS

MIFLC Review is now publishing book reviews dealing with literature (Comparative, French, German, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish American, and Spanish), linguistics and pedagogy. MIFLC Members interested in writing reviews on recent books should send contributions of approximately two double-spaced typewritten pages along with a stamped self addressed envelope directly to:

Jeremy Cass, Editor
Dept. of Modern Languages & Literatures
Furman University
3300 Poinsett Hwy.
Greenville, SC 29613-1122

Manuscripts may be written in English or Spanish and submitted in duplicate. Documentation should follow the latest edition of the MLA Style Manual and Guide to Scholarly Publishing and must include: name of the author of the book reviewed, title, city of publication, publisher, date of publication, ISBN number, and number of pages. The views expressed herein are the opinions of the reviewers not of the editorial members of the MIFLC Review.

Contents

LITERATURE

Francophone

Frenchness and its Peripheries
in Daniel Boukman's
Delivrans ! and Jean Barbeau's
Manon Lastcall
Nathan D. Brown 11

Le pouvoir d'exorcisme des mots dans Solo d'un revenant et
L'ombre des choses à venir:
Kossi Efoui dans la perspective
d'un nouvel engagement
Augustin Amevi Bocco 29

Spanish American

Dialogue between Narrator and Amanuensis in the Testimonial Biography of a
Runaway Slave
David S. Cross 51

A Voice from Oblivion: The Return of the Subject as Agent in Richard Rodriguez's Hunger of Memory
Bryan R. Pearce-Gonzales 65

FILM

Almodóvar and the Professions:
The Case of La piel que habito
Elizabeth Scarlett 81

TESTIMONIOS

Lo que me cuentan los libros de la biblioteca de mi padre, Eliseo
Diego
Josefina de Diego 93

BOOK REVIEWS 109

CONTRIBUTORS 129