

Editor's Note

We are pleased to share Volume 20 of the MIFLC Review, which highlights essays that were presented in their early form at the 2019 MIFLA meeting at Auburn University. Our contributors extended us much grace as Covid-19 complicated and delayed our customary workflows. My colleagues on the editorial team and I are most grateful for their patience, and for yours.

The MIFLC Review editorial team did heroic work for this volume. Our troupe of manuscript readers from the Editorial Board did their typical excellent work—some of them performing double duty. Managing Associate Editor Andrea Smith has again worked tirelessly to showcase the exciting work of our MIFLA colleagues, always with an eye towards detail and second-to-none editorial and administrative savvy. Copy editors Leslie Kaiura, Bryan Pearce Gonzales, and Eunice Rojas worked extensively with our contributors and their manuscripts, again displaying their deep commitment to collegial and collaborative work, not to mention their mean editorial skills and their first-rate knowledge of the field. I am honored to work with such dedicated and innovative folks.

One pending item from Volume 20 will be tidied up when we meet again: The Ulloa Award, which recognizes the lifelong contribution of Professors Leonor and Justo Ulloa to the journal and the organization, will be presented at the upcoming MIFLA meeting at Furman University in October 2021.

On behalf of my colleagues on the Editorial Board and on the Executive Committee, we wish you the best and hope to see you at Furman in 2021, even if we have to gather virtually.

With best wishes,

Jeremy L. Cass
